

ROAD TRIP GAMES

Alphabet Game

Starting with A, look out the window and try to find the letter A on a sign, license plate, etc. Next, find the letter B and continue until you reach Z. The person that gets to Z first is the winner.

Would You Rather

This game is a kid favorite. Each person comes up with two options and the others decide which they'd like better. It can be anything... "Would you rather go to an island or the mountains", "Would you rather be a lion or a housecat", etc.

License Plate Game

With pen and paper in hand, each person writes down as many different states that they can find on license plates (this can be played as a team or individually). At the end of the game, whoever has the most is the winner. You can set a timer or play continually throughout the road trip.

Create A Story

One person begins with "Once upon a time...". Each person takes turns adding another sentence to the story and at the end, you usually have a pretty unique, and silly, story!

Movie Mystery

One player thinks of a popular movie and gives out clues, one at a time, until somebody guesses it. The first person to guess correctly is the winner and that person then comes up with a new movie and clues.
