

Letter From The North Pole

Hooray! Hooray! It's the best time of year!
I've come from the North Pole to spread Christmas cheer!
I'm excited to stay with you this holiday season,
because Santa has sent me for a special reason.
I'll fly all the way back to the North Pole each night,
to tell Santa if you've been well behaved and polite.
I'll also report to him if you've been naughty,
so be sure to be kind to everybody!
I may have some mischievous fun while I'm here,
and each morning there's no telling where I'll appear.
Remember to look and enjoy but don't touch!
Then I'll lose my magic and would miss it so much.
So be your best, make your wish list and have lots of fun, because the countdown to Christmas has now begun!
